The Vamos Outreach app (codethedream.org/vamos) is designed to support farmworker outreach from start to finish. Vamos is used by farmworker organizations across the country, making it easier to plan routes, document visit details, and follow up with administrative reporting. Vamos was built in collaboration with farmworker organizations by Code the Dream, a nonprofit tech organization. CTD envisions a world in which innovation comes from all of us and benefits all of us. Our unique model creates opportunities that change lives; builds technology that benefits our communities; and expands the skills we need for a more innovative world."

Edovo Foundation*

Edovo is a digital learning platform built specifically for incarcerated learners, providing access to education at no cost to them. Through secure tablets and other facility devices, learners can access more than 35,000 hours of educational, vocational, and rehabilitative programming designed to support growth, skill-building, and reentry. As learners engage with Edovo, their work builds into a transcript, a documented record of the courses they've completed, the time they've invested, and the effort they've put into their own growth. That record can help make rehabilitation visible to public defenders supporting their journey. Learn more at edovo.org

Filevine* (Innovation Spotlight)

Filevine is the legal technology company behind LOIS. For ten years, Filevine has done the unglamorous work of structuring legal data at scale: 40 million matters, organized into the most comprehensive structured legal data foundation in the industry. That foundation is what gives LOIS its edge. Not just retrieval, but real context. Not just answers, but actions that are traceable to source. No competitor has had the time to build what Filevine spent a decade creating.
